Hamburg Presbyterian Church

In the year 1848 or 1849 the Synod of Memphis met in Little Rock Arkansas. At that time there was but one Presbytery in Arkansas, and that was called Arkansas Presbytery. At that session of the Synod application was made to divide Arkansas Presbytery, and constitute a new Presbytery south of Arkansas river. The application was met with strong opposition but was finally granted, and the new Presbytery was called Ouachita Presbytery and embraced all the territory south of Arkansas river and north of the river so as to include Holly Grove and Helena, and it was under the jurisdiction of this Presbytery that the Hamburg Presbyterian church was organized in the year 1858.

From the year 1850 to 1860 the emigration from other states to Arkansas was large and very rapid and consisted generally of a class of citizens of more than ordinary intelligence and refinement, and many of them religious. Among them there were many members of the Presbyterian church who had settled in Ashley County, and it appeared they were directed by an overruling Providence in coming to Ashley County. They brought with them the confession of faith, and continued to be Presbyterians although there had never been a Presbyterian preacher in the county. They had attended the Methodist and Baptist churches but still adhered to their own doctrines, and their teaching in Sunday School in which they were trained. They accepted the situation and made the best of surrounding circumstances, but they felt as if they were in a trackless desert, without the bread of life. There is probably no situation in life that will more fully try the faith and make a Christian feel his dependence upon the Divine Power to a greater extent, than to be placed in the situation above described.

That condition existed for several years, or until the year 1859, when two of our members to-wit; J.F. Ramsaur and William Harbison were informed that the Spring meeting of Ouachita Presbytery would be held at Scotland Church in the southwest part of Union County, and they determined to attend, and did go. After reaching there, they were informed of several Presbyterians residing in Ashley County, of whom they had no knowledge. After making known their situation and desire, the Presbytery made an order appointing Rev. A.L. Crawford, an able preacher who resided in Bradley County and Rev. Boozier, pastor of the church at Pine Bluff, to visit Ashley County, investigate the situation and if circumstances were favorable and the way clear to organize a church. They appointed a time and place of meeting, and gave public notice. The place of meeting was the Baptist church in Mill Creek township in Ashley County, Arkansas, known by the name of Holly Springs Church. The date was May or June 1859. (Record of Session says May 1859).

The ministers who were appointed were there, also a good congregation had assembled. After the sermon a call was made to ascertain how many members were there, and there were sixteen persons who could furnish evidence of membership, and they were at once organized into a presbyterian church, and given the name of Orion Church. The members enrolled as follows: J.F. Ramsaur, Mrs. J.F. Ramsaur, William Ramsaur, Robert Ramsaur, Mrs. Ramsaur, Mrs. McKinstry, William Harbison, Mrs. Harbison, Presley Harbison, Miss Harbison, James Moffatt, Mrs. Mary Moffatt, Mrs. Griffin, Miss Griffin, James H. Johnston, W.S. Lawson. It appearing that J.F. Ramsaur, William Harbison, J.H. Johnston and W.S. Lawson had been ordained and acted as Ruling Elders in other churches, they were duly elected to that office. The ministers preached on the Sabbath to a large congregation and administered the sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

During the year of 1859 and 1860, we had but little preaching. Rev. J.M. Nogue, who resided in Bradley County, preached to the church several times. About that time the clouds of war had become dark and gloomy, and relaxed the energy of individuals, and suspended the operations of church and state. In the year 1862 Rev. L.C. Murray, an aged and eloquent Divine moved from Monticello to Mill Creek township and settled there with his family. He was an able speaker, but his style was not of that character, that would captivate the mass of the people. About this time at the solicitation of the citizens of Hamburg he preached for two or three years in the Methodist church. After that we had but little preaching for several years. In 1866, by order of Ouachita Presbytery, the name of the church was changed from Orion to Hamburg Church and the location from Mill Creek township to Hamburg, Arkansas. The records of the organization of the church were in the possession of J.H. Johnston, clerk of the session who resided in Hamburg and had a law office in which he kept the church records, and the year before the removal to Hamburg which was in 1865 during the war, Osborne's force of Federal soldiers numbering six thousand made a raid in the southeast part Arkansas, coming to Hamburg and remaining about two weeks, and the officers of the army made their headquarters in the law office of J.H. Johnston, and at that time the records of the church were either destroyed or carried away.

After the removal to town there were several additions to the church. W.F. McCombs with several of his mother's family united with the church, also several others. And it appearing that W.F. McCombs had been ordained and acted as ruling elder in another church, he was elected to that office in Hamburg Church. J.W. VanGilder united with the church, and was elected deacon, and ordained to that office. He gave close attention to the financial affairs of the church, and by his activity contributed greatly to the interest and prosperity of the church. About this time the church secured the services of Rev. J.A. Dickson of Monticello, Arkansas to supply the church once a month. He was a young man just out of college, well versed in theology, very zealous and instructive. He preached for the church about two years.

Arrangements were then made with Rev. David Kerr who preached twice a month. He was a fluent speaker and had a popular manner. He preached about three years and died. After his death Rev. J.W. Kerr D.D. who lived in Monticello preached one Sunday in a month. He was born and reared in Scotland, educated in Glasgow. He was profound in theology, well versed in doctrine. His style and manner in the pulpit and out of it were the perfection of politeness. He was at times very eloquent, and a very consecrated man. He was so unfortunate as to lose one of his eyes while driving a nail. He went from this church to Natchez, Miss. During these years, many were added to the church, and in the year 1871, a good church building was erected. It was built by subscription, the burden falling mostly on a few able members. It was finished and out of debt.

About this time, D.D. Curry was elected and ordained elder and Robert Curry a deacon, and they both made efficient officers. In the year 1878, J.W. VanGilder was elected and ordained ruling elder. In 1878, J.H. Johnston, who was clerk of the session, died and the church lost a good and efficient officer as he had descended from an old North Carolina Presbyterian family and brought up strictly to the letter.

During that year, a call was presented to Rev. Henry Moore, a graduate of Hampton Sydney College to become pastor of the church. The call was accepted and he was installed as pastor. He was a very promising young man, had been well instructed in theology, and the Gov't of the church. The church seemed to grow in numbers and interest under his preaching. He left here and went to Dallas County, after preaching several years and from there to Virginia.

Both Edman was then elected and ordained as ruling elder. The church was then without a preacher for some time, and in 1882 the services of Rev. Washburn was secured. He preached about a year and then moved to Alabama. During the period mentioned, the membership was fluctuating, ranging from forty to fifty members. There were some dismissals to other Presbyterian churches and some loss by deaths.

From the time of the location of the church in Hamburg, we have had a Presbyterian Sabbath School under the control of the session, and it is very well attended. W.A. Lawson was elected and ordained to the office of deacon about this time. He was a very active and industrious church officer. He died in February 1894, and the church felt the loss very deeply. After his death T.B. Savage and Levi Perdue were elected and ordained as deacons.

The Rev. J.M. Brown preached for the church for about five years. He was a sound and practical expounder of the Bible, and his exemplary life was a forcible illustration of his faith. He continued preaching until the labor was too great. After the withdrawal of Bro. Brown, the Rev. R.L. Dale, a young minister from Batesville College, preached for the church for about two years, and then moved to Texas.

We were then without a pastor, for more than a year, when Rev. J.W. Mosley from Tennessee moved to Hamburg which was in 1892 and commenced preaching for the church. He was well advanced in years and somewhat frail, but was a fine preacher and his example and deportment rendered him very popular with the church and the community. He preached in Hamburg two sabbaths in each month.

(The above is a copy of the history written by W.S. Lawson about 1895. He was one of the original members and elders of this church.)

He preached in Hamburg two Sundays a month until in 1902, when on account of health and age he surrendered the work to another. Although he gave this church but part of his time, there were added to the church about forty persons during his ministry, about half of these were by profession. After Mr. Mosley retired from the work, he remained on the field in his own home until the death of his wife. After her death, he went to live with his son.

A call was extended to Rev. H.L. Paisley for full time as pastor of the church at $800.00 a year in July 1902. Mr. Paisley was an able minister and an aggressive worker. During his pastorate the session approved of the organization of the "Busy Bee Band", a juvenile Missionary society. Quite a bit of interest was taken in mission work. Special collection was taken for the rebuilding of the Lapsley Mission Boat on the Congo. The session also approved of the introduction of the Home Department and Cradle Roll in the Sunday School and instructed the Superintendent to inaugurate these departments into the Sunday School as soon as possible, placing such persons in charge as he deems suitable. During the ministry of Mr. Paisley over forty members were added to the church, nearly half on profession of faith. From here, Mr. Paisley went to San Marcus, Texas in 1908.

Rev. C.H. Maury was called to the Hamburg Church on the Sunday following Mr. Paisley's departure. Mr. Maury was a very small man but was very much appreciated by his people. He was an able preacher and an earnest worker. He remained on this field about eight years, giving part time to other churches during the latter part of his pastorate. During his ministry here, about sixty members were added to the church. About half of these were added on profession. Under his ministry the church roll reached the 100 mark, but since then has gradually declined in numbers.

In May, 1929, Rev. W.T. Stewart, Presbyterian Church U.S.A., who had just graduated from the Louisville Seminary, came to us as a supply pastor for this field and the Johnsville Church, giving half time to each church. In April prior to his coming, Pine Prairie Church at Mist was placed with this church. Since that time, several have been added on certificate and seven by profession. During these years, the church has lost several by letter and death. Owing to the small Sunday night congregation and a good percentage of our membership living at Mist, Mr. Stewart has conducted the evening services at Mist for the past few years. The people at Mist are considering putting up a building to be used for church and community purposes. Our church now has twenty-nine members living in Hamburg, eighteen living at Mist, and several nonresident members.

The Sunday School has never ceased to function since the organization in 1872, following the erection of a church building. On May 27, 1872, "The church organized a Sabbath School. J.H. Johnston was elected superintendent and S.L. McKelvy, assistant; W.F. McCombs, secretary, and J.J. Curry, librarian. A number of teachers volunteered to take charge of the classes. $52.75 was paid to the secretary to buy books for the school. J.H. Johnston, Clerk of the Session." The other organizations for children and young people have ceased, owing to the scarcity of children and young people in the church.

From the church, some have gone to other fields and have been recognized because of their ability and achievement. Mr. George B. Pugh, a deacon in the church, moved to Little Rock, where he made good in the legal profession and was elected President of the American Bar Association. Another who was reared in this church, William F. McCombs Jr., was selected as Wilson's campaign manager in 1912. Mr. McCombs is commonly spoken of as Frank McCombs in Hamburg. One of the young ladies of the church married Rev. C.H. Moore, who was much interested in church work. Howard Maury, whose father preached for this church for about eight years, gave himself to the ministry.

Our church is now under the care of two elders: Dr. W.S. Norman, an outstanding physician of Hamburg and is now past eighty years of age, and Mr. Frank N. Pugh, who has served the church in this capacity for over thirty-five years. We have five deacons at present: Floyd Walker, Vaughn Walker, Trezevant Watson, Foster Taylor and A.P. McCombs. The records of the church have been kept by Jas. H. Johnston, an original member, until 1878 when he died. After his death, they were kept by W.S. Lawson until 1898, when he tendered his resignation on account of bad health. Mr. Lawson was one of the original members of the church and a devout Presbyterian. Frank N. Pugh was elected clerk following Mr. Lawson's resignation, and with the exception of a brief period, 1905 until 1911, when J. R. McChesney and G.H. Richardson were clerks, has been clerk of the session until the present time.

In addition to the members of the church there are a number of people whose hearts God has touched who have worshipped with us for many years. These have been very loyal in their financial support and regular attendance at church services. Their godly lives are a credit to the church and the town.

Since the above was written, Dr. W.S. Norman passed away on Tuesday, March 13, at the age of 82 years.

Excerpts from interview with Lena W. Hastings by Crossett Jr Auxiliary at Meredith House in 1976 when Mrs Hastings was 91 years of age.

The "beanery" "Crossett Hotel" was known to Mrs. Hastings as the "Caldwell Hotel" named for the original proprietors. There were two dining rooms: one for the permanent residents who were mill workers and one for the transients. The hotel had two kitchens and served different meals to the permanent residents because they were on a flat fee for room and board.

Many of the early residents had to live in tents because the mill began operating before their houses were ready. Some of those who lived in tents were the Lessors and the Cannons.

Mrs Hastings came to Crossett in 1910. Her husband, D.C. Hastings came in 1905. Mr. Hastings taught school at a residence before the green school was built. Mrs. Hastings' sister Willie Walters came first as a teacher in 1908 and married Mick Hawkins the Assistant Sales Manager. Mrs. Hastings came in 1910 to take her sisters' place since married women were not allowed to teach. Mrs Hastings married the Superintendent, D.C. Hastings in 1913.

D.C.Hastings and Levi Wilcoxon roomed together in a building back of the Caldwell Hotel.

At the green school complex the High School was built first. Mr Hastings then went away to study schools, and came back and built the auditorium and gymnasium so that the work-study-play system could be inaugurated.

Thursday was "ladies day" at the Rose Inn. All the ladies would take their sewing and visit in the lobby.

The Rose Inn was built in 1913 - the same year Mrs Hastings' house was built. The same decorator who decorated the Rose Inn, decorated Mrs Hastings' house at 132 Main St. The Rose Inn burned in 1915. Mrs Hastings stood across the street and watched it burn and commented on the seeing the fine mahogany furniture go up in flames. (Editor's note: the only item remaining from the fire was the concrete mantle with "Rose" imprinted upon it. This was built into the new Rose Inn.) Mr and Mrs Hastings managed the Rose Inn in summer while Mr Treddick, the manager, went on vacation.

In September 1935 a "Reading Club", later to become the Crossett Book Club, was organized at Mrs Hastings' house. Members would purchase books and exchange them as there was no library at the time. Seventeen women attended the first meeting.

Excerpts from interview with Austin Burt by Crossett Jr
Auxiliary in 1976.

Mr Burt came to Crossett in 1909 from MS to work in the mill at age 19. (Editor's note: Mr. Burt's interview is one of the most interesting because he lived in Crossett continuously from 1909 and his recollections are so varied.)

He explained the mill whistle times:

Wake up whistle	- 5:30AM
Eat Breakfast	- 6:15
"Quarter whistle"- come to work	- 6:45
Go to work	- 7:00

The lights were shut off at 10:00 PM and turned back on at 5:30AM. During the period after 10 there were no lights in houses; only street lights. (Editors Note: This would explain a comment made by Lena Hastings to the Editor that "dating" in the early days was very restrictive due to the "curfew".)

Workers worked until 8:30PM four days a week and a ten hour day two days a week. No overtime was paid, the rate was for a day's work. No vacation was given. Two unpaid holidays were given, Christmas day and the fourth of July. Mr Burt started at $1.25 per day. He stated that some at the mill earned $1.05 per day. People made out fine though, as they all had gardens, and kept their own cows, hogs and chickens at their homes in Crossett.

The salary of the baptist preacher was $75 per month and the salary of the Methodist preacher, Bro Sage was $100 per month.

House rent was $1.50 per room per month, water was $.25 per month and electric lights were $1.00 per month. If you had a four room house you were generally expected to keep a boarder. The Crossett Lumber Co generated all the electricity and sold to the town.

Heat was from wood stoves and the workers brought scrap wood home from the mill to burn. Oak and other hardwoods were popular as firewood and were available free from the mill for workers. The workers would fashion leather slings to carry scrap wood home.

If you had a charge account at the Crossett Mercantile, and had a telephone, you could order a fifteen cent item and it would be delivered to your house in a wagon. Bill Hurd at the Mercantile could put out an order a minute. When delivering, Hurd would run the horses down the street.

Miss Cynthia Pearson was head of the dry goods department at the store before marrying Mr Billy Woods. Mr Luthur Moffatt was head of the shoe department.

Hospitalization and Doctor cost was $1.00 per month for a family and $.50 per month for a single man.

Workers walked home at noon to eat. The mill would shut down about 11:30AM and start again at 1:00 PM. Everyone walked in Crossett. Mr Cap Gates was not blind but could not see very well. He would walk along third avenue from his home to the office with a cane, touching the fence along the way to guide himself.

Mr Hunnicutt was the Marshal and Mr Dooley was the Mayor. Mr Dooley was also a foreman at the No. 2 plant. Buddy Finch was the Postmaster and Norwood Blackwood worked at the Post Office. There was no mail carrier - everyone went to the window to pick up their mail. Mrs Blackwood worked at the Post Office and rode a bicycle to work.

There was very little hunting and fishing because the men worked all of the time. Mr Burt visited Hamburg occasionally to visit a girl friend. He rode the train at a cost of three cents per mile.

One day Mr Gates announced to the men that there would be a meeting that evening at the club house. Mr Gates said he had heard some were joining the union and that before the Company would work union labor they would shut it down. Many did join and among those fired for joining were: Fred Burt, Neil Burt, Charlie Scribner and Gene McKinney. After a law suit these men were reinstated with back pay.

Excerpts from interview with Ed Allen by Crossett Jr Auxiliary in 1976.

There were very few deer in the county from about World War I until the late 1940's when the game refuges brought them back. There were plenty of squirrel and turkey however. One hunter had a bet with another hunter on how many turkey he could kill in the fall and killed 31 turkey. In those days the hunters sold their birds to Cap Gates for $1 each. Cap gave them away to friends and served them at the hotel.

(Editors note: The old records of the Crossett Lumber Company show many instances of purchases of turkey and bear meat for the hotel. Ducks were brought in by the wagon load.)

Excerpts from interview with Mrs W.W. Hines by Crossett Jr Auxiliary in 1976.

Mrs Hines came as a teacher in 1934. The second floor of the Rose Inn was a co-ed dormitory for teachers and for young men who worked in the town - sharing one bath. In the dining room, the teachers were seated at one table in the corner and ate a fixed menu because they were paying room and board. Rates were $30 per month, two to a room. Teachers pay at the time was $75 per month.

Teachers at that time were not allowed to play any card games or to attend dances. They were required to affiliate with a church and regularly attend Sunday school and church. Payroll deductions were allowed to be made from their pay for church pledges. (Editor's note: this was also true for Crossett Lumber Co employees.)

Their alternate entertainment consisted of gathering around the piano and singing and playing parlor games. On evenings when there would be a big dance in the ball room of the Rose Inn, the teachers had no dates and had to find other entertainment, and even climb down the fire escape to avoid going through the lobby. The rule on dancing was changed in the early 1940's.

Sharing Our Search

Deonna Childers WILLIAMS, 601 Pena, Carrizo Springs, TX 78834 is researching the family Lemarcus DEAL, sister Sarah DEAL SPARKS, and another sister, Mart DEAL WATKINS who came to Arkansas from Mississippi in the middle 1850's. Their father John DEAL, may have come with them or at a later date. Anyone having information (family group sheets, family histories, etc.) of this DEAL family should contact her at the above address. Also would like to contact any descendants that are still living in Ashley County. Does a DEAL family Bible exist?

Robert M. McClain, Jr., 9 Walnut Street, Boston, MA 02108. I am a descendant of Robert Marion McClain b. 1840, York County, SC, d. 1905, Cleveland Co. AR, who came to Arkansas about 1868 with his first wife, Lydia Jane (ALEXANDER), his bro. Alpheus T. McClain and sisters, Adeline HOLBROOK, Hester DOSTER, Margaret ROBERTS] and Martha Alabama (ANDREWS) ALEXANDER McClain b. 1856, Cleveland Co.; AR; d. 1846, Cleveland Co. AR, who had previously married John ALEXANDER, probably of Ashley Co. AR, who died soon after marriage, and who was the daughter of Paschal B. ANDREWS b. 1821, GA or AL, d. 1870, Cleveland Co, AR, and Martha Ellen (?SEARS) ANDREWS, B. 1823, GA, d. 1860, Cleveland Co., AR, who came from MS to AR between 1844 and 1848]. Am working on genealogies of the McClain (McLain, McLean) family of NC and SC and AR and the ANDREWS (ANDREW, ANDERS) family of VA, GA, AL, MS and AR. Seek correspondence with or information about descendants of either family, especially those in Central and Southeastern Arkansas.
